The income statistics above are for all Saba Promoters who were eligible to earn commissions (active Promoters or Associates) in 2018. Income is defined as commissions and bonuses received from Saba and does not include income received from personal retail sales. Note that these figures do not represent a Promoter's profit, as they do not consider expenses incurred by a Promoter in operating or promotion of his or her business. The figure above refer to gross income (total income before any expenses are deducted). The expenses a Promoter incurs in operation of his or her Saba business vary widely. Expenses of Promoters can be several hundred or thousands of dollars annually. You should factor in estimated expenses when projecting potential profits. Such operating expenses could include advertising and promotional expenses, product samples, training, travel, telephone and Internet costs, business equipment and other miscellaneous expenses.

The earning of the Promoter in this chart are not necessarily representative of the income, if any, that any Saba Promoter can or will earn through his or her participation in the Saba Compensation Plan. These figures should not be considered as a guarantees or projections of your actual earnings or profits. Any representation or guarantee of earning would be misleading. It is estimated that approximately 15% of all Saba Promoters received no income at all. Success with Saba results only from successful sale sales efforts, which require hard work, diligence and leadership. Your success will depend upon how effectively you exercise these qualities and commitment to your Saba business.
